

Reprieve for DCCCS; Another Month Funded By Council

By NANCY STANCILL
The Daly City Community for Children's Services Monday received an eleventh-hour reprieve as the Daly City City Council agreed to provide funding for another month of the day care operation.

The DCCCS was scheduled to run out of operating funds June 30, but the council unanimously decided to heed the pleas of DCCCS officials.

The council voted to allocate $5,000 to the DCCCS to give the organization time to clarify its funding from the state for the upcoming fiscal year.

The DCCCS has been under fire from the city and county for several months for alleged bad management. The criticism culminated early this month when a city-county fiscal audit and program review was released.

The review claimed the DCCCS has not properly utilized a state AB 3059 grant of about $53,000 to provide day care services at location other than that the DCCCS-operated center. Most of the money went unused and about $7,000 was improperly deposited into a center operating account, according to the report.

Center director Adrienne Shapiro told the council that despite the fact that most of the current year state grant must be returned, the DCCCS is eligible for about $71,000 in AB 3059 monies in the upcoming year.

Ms. Shapiro said she has been told by the state that the vendor funds can be used at the DCCCS center, a point questioned by Daly City officials.

"I'm only asking that you release the $12,900 you already allocated. Then, I won't bother the city again," she told the council.

The council budgeted $12,900 in Federal Housing and Community Development Act city money in March, but said the funds

7 New Police Officers OK'd

Seven officers will be added to Daly City's Police Department in the coming fiscal year, the Daly City City Council has decided.

In a Saturday budget session, the council agreed to authorize the seven new positions for a beginning date of April 1, 1978.

Starting the officers so late in the upcoming fiscal period will add only 1.3 cents to the city tax rate, council members pointed out.

The cost of salaries, uniforms, equipment and fringe benefits would total $37,679, according to City Manager David Rowe.

Rowe recommended against the council adding any new police positions.

Police Chief David Hansen a few weeks ago won widespread support from citizens with his plea for 17 new police personnel to stem the city's rising crime rate.

For that reason, Councilman Victor Kyriakakis said, "I would not feel right not adding any. This is the most difficult question we've had."

Kyriakakis said he expects reappraisal of the city's commercial property and new legislation on the state level to help Daly City fund the additional personnel next year.

Councilman Anthony Giammona said he agreed with the addition of seven.

"The police have been overburdened," he said. "It hasn't been fair to the police department or to the citizens of Daly City."

The council noted that with the addition of the police personnel, the proposed tax rate, even with considerable cuts, is down only to $1.60 per $100 of assessed valuation, 10 cents more than the target of $1.50 set by council members.

The tax rate is expected to climb another 10 or 15 cents as the council ends its negotiations this week with about seven groups of

DC, JESD Rift Over Funding

Daly City's City Council Monday rapped Jefferson Elementary School District representatives for insisting in two closed meetings that JESD get the entire $1.627 million in public works funds allotted to the Daly City area.

"I don't feel this is fair to the people of Daly City," said Councilman Anthony Giammona of JESD's proposals that at least $1,485,751 of the grant be used for reconstruction of Crocker School.

Daly City and North San Mateo County Sanitation District also have applied for funding of public works projects under Title I, Public Works Employment Act of 1976.

The $1.6 million was granted to the Daly City area recently, with the provision that the three agencies that applied for project funding decide jointly how to spend it.

Accordingly, last week, representatives of the city, NSMCS and JESD met to make that determination. They met in closed session Tuesday and again Saturday.

Representing JESD were trustees Dorothy Adams and Al Schwartzbach and district employee Ted Peterson.

The JESD representatives told City Manager David Rowe and Mayor Albert Teglia, representing the city, and David Gehre and Giammona, representing the sanitation district, that they would not share the funds.

"The school representatives indicated that it was their position that the elementary school district would have to get all of the available funding for the reconstruction of Crocker Elementary School, or they would not concur in establishing any priorities for city or sanitation district uses," Rowe wrote council in a memo.

He said the JESD representatives were scheduled to take the matter to the full JESD board Monday and meet again with the public works funds committee in closed session Thursday.

Rowe told council that if the three agencies can't come to agreement, the Economic Development Administration (EDA) will have to make the decision.

"That could take some time, up to a year," said Rowe.

Giammona said the Daly City funding "would go to the bottom of the list." He noted that in the meantime, inflation would whittle away at the projects.

At Rowe's request, council adopted a joint priority schedule, which also will be presented to the Board of Directors of the Sanitation District. He pointed out the priority list of projects can be sent to the EDA if further attempts at agreement fail.

The list designates as the first five items, "projects that can be accomplished with the $1.6 million available," according to Rowe.

They are, in order, $520,000 for phase one of NSMCS's trunk sewer

Four Held in SF Slaying

By TERRY DAVENPORT
Daly City police arrested four young Peninsula men Friday night and early this morning in connection with the slaying this week of homosexual Robert Hillsborough in San Francisco.

Booked on suspicion of murder Friday night were Michael Chavez, 20, of 430 Niantic Ave., Daly City, and Thomas J. Spooner, 20, of 832 Sixth Ave., San Bruno. Arrested together at 2:30 a.m. Saturday by Daly City police were a 16-year-old juvenile and John L. Cardova, 29, of 270 Acton St., Daly City.

Daly City Police made a separate search for the weapon believed to have been used in the brutal stabbing, said Lt. Steve Lowe. Lt. Daniel Murphy, a San Francisco homicide investigator, said that the knife was located at Cardova's house.

"I want to give a lot of credit to Daly City Police and also to San Bruno Police for helping us with this case," said Murphy.

A 1974 green Buick Opel was also impounded by police, who said they believed the suspects were riding in it on the night of the killing.

"We believe we have everyone involved and we have a good case," commented Murphy.

The slaying of Hillsborough on Wednesday provoked an angry reaction from the homosexual community in San Francisco and prompted San Francisco Mayor George Moscone to offer a $5,000 reward for information leading to the capture of the killers.

A number of homosexual organization posted other rewards.

San Francisco homicide officers said the arrests were made with information supplied by two informants. One telephoned and one appeared at the Hall of Justice in San Francisco on Friday night, asking where he could claim his reward.

Garcia scheduled another hearing for Thursday, when the two suspects are expected to enter pleas.

Hillsborough was killed last Wednesday outside his apartment here, when four young assailants set upon him and stabbed him 15 times.

Also being held without bail in connection with Hillsborough's death are Michael Chavez, 20, of Daly City, and an unidentified 16-year-old Daly City youth. They were taken into custody Saturday.

Hours after the arraignment Monday, the gathered mourners at Grace Cathedral listened to an emotional service in memory of the 32-year-old city gardener, whose mother described as a "peaceful young man."

Helen Hillsborough, a 73-year-old retired real estate broker from San Diego, said her son told her he was gay six years ago and hated violence "or any kind of unhappiness."

From the pulpit, the Rev. James Brown told the crowd. "In the matter of sexuality and homosexuality, in particular, the church has failed. In that failure it has hurt and caused to bleed some of her most devoted children."

Pacifica Debates Policies

By TERRY DAVENPORT
The Pacifica City Council wound up a heated discussion on the city's policy on emergency services volunteer appointments Monday night by calling for a detailed explanation of the duties required of volunteers.

Mayor Sidney Lorvan steadfastly refused to allow any discussion of the individual case of Bob Plaskon, the handicapped man whose reappraisal to be an Emergency Services volunteer recently was refused, unleashing a barrage of criticism.

Although Plaskon has been a volunteer with the department for 3½ years, his reappraisal was denied on the basis of his infirmities, under a new set of qualifications drawn up by the city.

"Any discussion of a person whose application has been denied is out of order. If an individual wants his case discussed, he should have asked the council for an appeal and

Two DC Suspects Arraigned

An arraignment was held for two men in the knifing death of Robert Hillsborough, just hours apart from a memorial service for the slain homosexual attended by more than 3,000 persons.

Thomas J. Spooner, 21, and John Cordova, 19, both of Daly City, were arraigned Monday before Municipal Court Judge Louis Garcia, each on a single charge of murder. The two men have been held without bail since their arrest Friday.

Garcia scheduled another hearing for Thursday, when the two suspects are expected to enter pleas.

Hillsborough was killed last Wednesday outside his apartment here, when four young assailants set upon him and stabbed him 15 times.

Also being held without bail in connection with Hillsborough's death are Michael Chavez, 20, of Daly City, and an unidentified 16-year-old Daly City youth. They were taken into custody Saturday.

Trustees Approve Positions

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees Monday night created four new bilingual teaching positions and reopened one Emergency School Aid Act teaching position.

The board took this action upon the recommendation of Nettie Herbert, director of the district language program.

Mrs. Herbert said in order for the district to be in compliance with the state's bilingual act, AB-1329, the district would need seven new language teachers in addition to the six already working in the program.

The four new positions — two for Title VII and two for the district's BABEL program — will serve limited and non-English speaking students of Spanish and Filipino descent.

The board announced that district teachers who have received termination notices will be the first considered for the positions if they possess the necessary qualifications.

In other actions the board:

- Signed a collective bargaining agreement with the California School Employees Association that runs from July 1, 1976 through June 30, 1978. The contract provides for a 2.6 per cent across-the-board raise for classified employees (which amounts to some $44,000 in additional district funds) and an agreement to continue health and welfare benefits at the same level and cost to the district. A salary reopener after July 1, 1977 has been included should either party wish to reopen negotiations on wages for the 1977-78 school year. The salary increase is retroactive to July 1, 1976.

• Set a public hearing for July 11 at 7 p.m. in the district office for the purpose of getting public response to the Jefferson School Psychologist Association's salary proposal for July 1, 1976 through June 30, 1978.

The unit, which includes only four employees, requests a 6.5 per cent cost of living increase; a wage reopener clause on or after Sept. 1, 1977; and medical, dental, life and Workmen's Compensation Insurance benefits which are provided by district policy.

• Approved a tentative

DC Post Office Cutbacks

Council Supports Workers

Save Our Service, an organization opposing cutbacks proposed for the Daly City Post Office, got a boost Monday from the Daly City City Council.

The council voted unanimously to oppose a plan by the Post Office to move mail processing and some postal clerks from Daly City to San Francisco's Rincon Annex.

Several postal clerks, members of SOS, said 20 of the Daly City employees have received notices that they may be transferred to Rincon Annex.

Daly City Postmaster Robert Smith, who spoke at a council study session which preceded the action, said about three employees would be transferred. He said none would be laid off.

Smith said the move to mechanize mail processing at central locations like Rincon Annex is part of a national trend by the Post Office.

But, letter carrier and SOS spokesman Dana Joiner warned that such a move would delay Daly City mail service and would result in economy only by "getting people to quit."

Council members said they disapproved of the federal government creating costly programs to employ people while acting in the case of the Post Office, to eliminate future jobs.

The council voted unanimously to support the SOS in opposition to the Post Office plan.

In other business, council tabled indefinitely a pro-would be allocated pending the results of the audit. Several weeks ago, the council voted to release $4,000 to carry the day care organization through June 30.

At that time, city officials indicated the controversial president of the DCCCS Board of Directors, the Rev. Raymond Howard, and a number of board members who supported him, would resign.

However, at a DCCCS board meeting last week, the Reverend Howard said a letter from San Mateo County official Don Heath had cast aspersions on his honesty and he refused to resign until the DCCCS board was cleared.

The county, which has contributed $16,000 during the DCCCS' year and a half existence, has declined to fund the corporation any further.

Daly City Assistant City Manager Ray Letsinger told the council that Daly City has contributed $147,000 to the center and "funding from the city should terminate June 30."

However, he said the day care organization "should be encouraged to seek AB 3059 monies" and could continue to use city buildings at 101 Peoria St. and 350 Lowell St. until the leases expire at the end of the year.

The Reverend Howard told the council, "I've been the problem ever since I fired Mrs. (Anne) Cooper. It's a racial thing."

The DCCCS president, a black man, has charged that firing of a white center director focused negative attention on the center.

The Reverend Howard mentioned 21 parents and 24 children who are served by the center, and said if the council denied further funding, "You will have to go to bed with this on your conscience."

The Rev. Hosey Spears urged the council to consider working mothers whomight have to seek welfare payments if day care is unavailable.

Ms. Shapiro said that by letting most center employees go, she could "stretch $5,000 for three months."

Councilman Anthony Giammona said he would be willing to fund the organization for another month, if it would use the time to seek further funding from the state.

The council agreed unanimously.

7 Arrested at Party Scene

Five men and two women were arrested in San Bruno after apparently crashing a party.

The seven were arrested at 1:40 a.m. Saturday at the home of Kelly J. Lynch, 21, 2210 Rollingwood Drive. They were held on a variety of charges, including burglary and assault with a deadly weapon.

San Bruno police said two of the suspects, Robert J. Delgado, 20, 241 San Diego Drive, San Bruno, and Dennis J. Sullivan, 23, 743 Lockhaven Drive, Pacifica, apparently had been pressured into leaving the Rollingwood Drive party earlier in the evening.

Then, police said, Delgado and Sullivan returned with several friends. Many were armed with clubs and chains, and a fight broke out, according to the police report.

Delgado and Sullivan were charged with burglary (allegedly breaking into the Rollingwood Drive residence) and assault with a deadly weapon.

The others arrested were Anthony A. Hespon, 21, 3015 Fleetwood Drive, San Bruno, on burglary and assault charges; Thomas M. Sullivan, 27, 3015 Fleetwood Drive, San Bruno, on burglary and assault charges; Richard A. Mattoch, 21, 128 N. Claremont St., San Mateo, on burglary, assault and auto theft charges; Mandy Van Kleef, 21, 455 Imperial Drive, Pacifica, charged with disturbing the peace; and Terry G. Dunn, 18, 743 Lockhaven Drive, Pacifica, charged with disturbing the peace.

Some of the victims involved in the fight were taken to Peninsula Hospital, police said.

San Bruno officers arrived on the scene with the fight in progress. They were Sgt. Jerry Canning and Officers Jerry Sezen, Grant Webb and Joe Kosiba.

Developer Ordered To Pay Park Fees

By JANET PARKER

Despite the protests of the developer, the San Bruno City Council agreed Monday night that the city is entitled to an $85,911 park fee in connection with an 87-unit condominium project to be constructed on Cherry Avenue.

Dr. Weldon Crabb of South San Francisco, who is required to pay that fee plus $87,000 in condominium use taxes, will be building the first condominium complex in San Bruno.

Crabb already had received preliminary approval from the Planning Commission for the project, which will be situated adjacent to The Place apartment complex on the west side of Cherry Avenue.

The project sailed smoothly through the commission in only a few months after lying dormant for nearly three years.

However, the developer strongly objected to the city's requirement for the park fee contribution.

City Planner William Kelly had recommended that the council require the payment — equalling the fair market value of 1.09 acres of land — to meet provisions of state condominium laws.

Kelly said the intention of the fee is to provide park and recreation facilities "reasonably related to serving the subdivision" by purchasing nearby land.

The city would not permit the developer to go ahead without paying the fee.

Crabb's representative, Frank Borges of San Mateo, said the fee is unfair.

The developer, Borges said, already is planning $200,000 worth of recreational facilities, including swimming pools, tennis courts and landscaped open space.

he didn't do that," Loran said.

Several councilmen criticized the section of the volunteer qualifications that says an individual must undergo a background investigation to "determine if the applicant is free of infirmities that would interfere with the complete performance of assigned duties."

When Loran asked Police Chief Melvin Nelson if the qualifications were based on any model, Nelson replied that they were based loosely on standards required of police reserves.

Nelson, City Manager Don Weidner and Emergency Services Deputy Director Rosemary Cameron drew up the new qualifications.

Councilman Stanley Farber said the wording — particularly the word "infirmities" — was negative and suggested that it be framed in a more positive light.

"It's difficult to do that," Nelson said. "Everything we write down today is subject to court interpretation. We are constantly rewriting our job qualifications."

But, he said the suggestion to reword the item was well taken.

Under questioning by Councilman Mark Savage, Nelson said the Emergency Services Department has had several handicapped volunteers in recent years.

"We had one person with a missing leg, another with missing fingers, some with hearing and eye losses. I think you have to make an individual judgment in each case," remarked Nelson.

But when Councilman Nick Gust asked, "Does this mean his (Bob Plaskon's) application will be reviewed again?" Nelson responded, "We have no plans to re-review it, unless we are so directed by the council."

Gust tried again to introduce Plaskon's individual case, but Loran ruled him out of order several times. Farber also mentioned that he felt uncomfortable discussing the case in public.

"I've read in four different newspapers that the individual has threatened to take the city to court," said Farber.

The council finally agreed to ask its staff to submit a list of the duties a volunteer must be able to perform.

"Without an idea of what a person is expected to do, I don't see how you can say he can't do it," said Loran.

There was also a consensus among councilmen that the wording of the section dealing with infirmities be changed.

A Pacifica resident, Lois Picillo, questioned the council on the city's preparedness for an emergency.

"How prepared are we at this moment if a sudden disaster should strike at midnight? I'm in Civil Defense and I don't know," she said.

The council agreed to hold a study session in August to review emergency procedures.

Another citizen, Violet Gotelli, said she thought the matter should be discussed immediately. Loran said her questions would be dealt with at the August study session.

"I hope nothing happens between now and August," Mrs. Gotelli said. "I do, too," Loran replied.

posal by the Daly City Personnel Board to approve a definition of duties for three proposed fire lieutenant positions.

The fire lieutenant positions have been a source of long-time opposition by the Daly City fire fighters' union.

Both Vince Riddle, vice-president of the International Association of Fire Fighters, and Robert Roesch, president of the San Mateo County Fire Fighters, earlier had told council in study session that the fire lieutenant was an "archaic classification."

Bob Padreddi, president of the Daly City Fire Fighters, has argued that the new classification would "create more bosses and less people to do the work."

Padreddi said he hoped that council's tabling of the Personnel Board recommendation signals "a graceful elimination of the classification in the future."

The council made some 116 petition signers in the Bayshore area happy, as it rejected a bid for a two-phase traffic controller system proposed for Geneva Avenue and Rio Verde. The council requested the city seek a five-phase system, which would allow left turns going north and south on Rio Verde, as petitioners had requested.

In other business, the council:

Agreed to abide by a suggestion by City Atty. Albert Polonsky that the proposed police services contract between the city and Broadmoor not be discussed, pending a San Mateo County Superior Court hearing June 29. Polonsky said he has filed a brief on the matter.

Unanimously approved a resolution in support of the proposed Arctic natural gas line, which would bring natural gas from Canada to California. The resolution was passed at the request of Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Passed on second reading, ordinances designed to improve cablevision service through additions to the Vista Grande Cablevision franchise agreement.

Unanimously approved a six-month continuation of the contract, between the county and city, for the county's rental of the pre-arrestment detention facility serving the North County at Daly City's Civic Center.

Appointed resident Conrad Pavellas to the Daly City Rehabilitation Committee and reappointed Leroy Franzola Jr. and Edward O'Donnell to the Planning Commission and Michael Cooney to the Library Board.

Live With Self-Esteem

"When an American says that he loves his country, he means not only that he loves the New England hills, the prairies glistening in the sun, the wide and rising plains, the great mountains, and the sea. He means that he loves an inner air, an inner light in which freedom lives and in which a man can draw the breath of self-respect."

—Adlai Stevenson

Sir: I want a place where a man will be anything but a cur . . . I don't care where so long as I can to where a man is a man.

—Negro migrant worker

The Fourth of July is a time to recall that the right to live with self-esteem lies at the core of the quality of life that Americans call freedom. Without this quality the land cannot be happy no matter how loud the cannons roar and the people shout to salute the Fourth of July.

This is a lesson that was taught by the father in a story that deserves repeating.

Son: Father, look up and see that flag
How gracefully it flies.
Those pretty stripes — they seem to be a rainbow in the skies.

Father: It is your country's flag, my son,
That proudly drinks the light,
O'er oceans waves, in foreign climes,
A symbol of our might.

Samuel Chandler

Son: Father, what fearful noise is that,
Like thundering of the clouds?
Why do people wave their hats,
And rush along in crowds?

Father: It is the loud-mouthed cannon's roar,
The glad shouts of the Free;
This is the day to memory dear—
'Tis Freedom's Jubilee.

Son: I wish that I were now a man;
I'd fire my cannon too,
And cheer as loudly as the rest,
But, father, why don't you?

Father: I'm getting old and weak — but still
My heart is big with joy;
I've witnessed many a day like this,
Shout you aloud, my boy.

Son: Hurrah for Freedom's Jubilee!
God bless our native land!
And may I live to hold the flag
Of freedom in my hand.

Father: Well done, my boy — forever love
The land that gave you birth;
A home where Freedom loves to dwell
Is the happiest land on earth.
Freedom dwells in America and the land is happy when people remember Lincoln's ideal:

"As I would not be a slave, so I would not be a master. This expresses my idea of democracy.
Whatever differs from this, to the extent of the difference, is no democracy."

—Abraham Lincoln.

Judge Jails A Rapist

A 29-year-old Pacifica man convicted of an October knife-point rape, oral copulation and robbery of a Millbrae woman was sentenced to state prison for five-years-to-life Thursday by San Mateo County Superior Court Judge Robert E. Carey.

The defendant, Stephen E. Price, was convicted in May by a jury which disbelieved Price's alibi that he was elsewhere when the 29-year-old victim was assaulted as she walked along El Camino Real in Burlingame after her car stalled.

The sexual assault occurred at a service station.

Least Desirable of Four Sites

Proposed Oyster Point Power Plant Fades

A proposal by Pacific Gas & Electric to place a steam and gas power plant at South San Francisco's Oyster Point will probably be abandoned by the state Energy Resources Conservation and Development Commission, it appeared last week.

After months of hearings and staff discussions, the commission has released a preliminary report rating Oyster Point as the least desirable of four sites under consideration for the combined cycle power plant.

The report pleased South San Francisco officials. Both the City Council and the Planning Commission had formally opposed locating the 400-megawatt facility next to the city's marina.

The power plant proposal was even more intolerable for South San Francisco because the city is planning an $8.4 million expansion and beautification of the marina.

Commission staff member Cynthia Praule said Oyster Point has been "tentatively ruled out."

The final report of the commission — which once and for all determined the appropriate site — will be released at the end of the year, Praule said.

PG&E announced last year its intention to build a combined cycle power plant at one location in the Bay Area. However, the commission requires that several potential sites be thoroughly evaluated.

The others are Visitation Point in Brisbane, a site in North San Jose and the Potrero power plant vicinity in San Francisco.

South San Francisco officials have also urged the power company to consider Belle Air Island, a site in their city just north of San Francisco International Airport and east of the city's sewage treatment plant.

City Planner William Costanzo said if PG&E indicates an interest in the Belle Air Island, the city will cooperate.

"We would certainly like to see them go to Belle Air Island if they can," Costanzo said.

Interested parties can appeal the information in the report, Mrs. Praule said.

While the city staff criticized the visual and environmental effects of locating the plant at Oyster Point, they believe the Belle Air land is ideally suited for that purpose.

The site, Costanzo said, is visually isolated and 90 per cent surrounded by water — a positive factor for plant cooling.

The city could make available to PG&E five million gallons of wastewater a day for cooling if that site were chosen, he said.

"We would like to promote that site," Costanzo said.

In addition, it's expected that the assessed valuation of the power plant will be $147 million — boosting the city's tax roles. The service costs for the city would be small in comparison, Costanzo said.

The commission in its report says all parties — both public and private — seem to agree that "the Oyster Point site is definitely the least desirable of the four sites from a land use perspective."

The report notes the concern for the environment at Oyster Point "because the site is adjacent to San Francisco Bay and includes mudflats, marshlands and fill areas which are of value to waterfowl and shorebirds as well as other wildlife species."

According to the report, only one interested party, the Peninsula Manufacturer's Association, supported Oyster Point as the location for the power plant.

PMA cited a possible increase on the city tax base resulting in a tax reduction for industry.

Costanzo said it appears that adding Belle Air Island to the list at this point would lengthen the hearing and report process. The need for additional electrical energy as quickly as possible might not allow time for inclusion of Belle Air Island in the final study, Costanzo said.

"We just determined we won't make any comments unless PG&E wants us to," he said.

Further hearings, beginning on July 18, will be held before the final report is developed.

Mock Trial Included Seminar

A two-part seminar on legal insanity and diminished capacity will be conducted in the San Mateo City Council Chambers from 7:30 to 10 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday, June 29 and 30, according to Superior Court Judge William Lanham, chairman of the San Mateo County Council on Mental Health and the Law symposium.

The symposium will be both for legal and clinical practitioners, and the major emphasis will be on how legal issues affect psychiatrists, courts and prosecution and defense attorneys.

A mock trial will be held on the second evening to highlight and dramatize substantive and procedural issues.

Knights Stand

Grand Knight Joseph Capurro announced that Marian Council No. 3773, Knights of Columbus, will operate its annual Fireworks stand through July 4.

The stand will be in the parking lot of L&M Electronics, 2401 Geneva Ave., Daly City.

Laguna Salada Contract Signed

A contract ratified earlier this month by both the Laguna Salada Educational Association and the Laguna Salada Union School District board was signed last Thursday at the board meeting.

Now in effect, the contract calls for binding arbitration and a 3 per cent salary increase, retroactive to July 1, 1976. Teachers will receive the retroactive funds in one lump sum.

The board also approved a long-range planning and review schedule for the Needs Assessment Project, which will be conducted by San Mateo County Schools. Supt. James Brien said the plan will try to establish a five-year plan for the school district, determining what kinds of curriculum are needed.

During the summer, the administration will collect data for the study, including enrollment projections, plans proposed by the City of Pacifica, a five-year projection on the growth of cost-of-living in the Bay Area, state funding as a result of the Serrano decision and a prediction on expenses.

Plans for September through February call for the county office to set up steering committees at the school level and to conduct speakups and circulate questionnaires in order to determine school needs.

City Meets Residents

Two Daly City councilmen, three members of the police department and two members of the city staff met with the Bayshore Residents Association at Bayshore School recently.

On hand from the city were Councilmen Victor Kyriakis and McRobert Stewart, Police Chief David Hansen, Assistant Chief Richard Sims and Sgt. Terry Hanebeck, and Ron Mitchell and Keith Dellaway from the city staff.

The meeting conducted by the president of the Bayshore Residents Association, Joseph Keh Jr., covered an array of subjects.

Kyriakis spoke about the concept of preferential parking as a possible solution to consider in solving some of the parking problems in the area. He suggested a committee of local citizens be formed to study problems that are unique to the district to be presented to his preferential parking committee.

Stewart explained the Daly City street beautification program and pointed out the need of community involvement to make the program effective.

Mitchell, cognizant of the Bayshore area's problems, listened intently as Dellaway made his presentation on the proposed plan to install a traffic control signal on Geneva Avenue and discussed the existing traffic problems.

Hansen and staff gave an overview of crime in Daly City. It was brought out that the Bayshore area was listed 10th out of the 20 districts in the city with 69 reported crime incidents since the beginning of the year.

The question and answer session provided a medium for input and feedback with the city government resulted in the better understanding, satisfaction and encouragement to the residents attending the meeting.

NEWS DIGEST

A THIRD MINORITIES

About 34.7 percent of California's total population are members of minority groups, according to a report just released by the Office of Lieutenant Governor Mervyn Dymally.

The report on Third World Population in California is the result of an intern research project sponsored by Dymally's office and directed by Rupert Francisco, a student from U.C. Riverside.

In the past seven years, according to the report, California has had a minority growth rate of 14.3 percent from 20.4 percent of the total population in 1970 to 34.7 percent in 1977; an increase of over four million people. The report states, "If the present trend continues, by 1990, California minorities will comprise a staggering 60.7 percent of the total population."

MISS TEENAGE FORMS

Entry forms are now available for Miss Teenage America, a youth recognition program which honors outstanding young women who are teenage achievers.

In addition to the $15,000 scholarship to the college or university of her choice, Miss Teenage America will also receive a minimum of $5,000 cash for personal appearances plus numerous other awards.

There is no swimsuit competition, no crown, no runway and no parading in the contest.

To receive an entry form write to Miss Teenage America National Headquarters, 1165 Empire Central Place, Suite 101, Dallas, TX 75247.

Candidate-at-large entry deadline is 6 p.m., Sept. 7.

LAWYERS BACK FUNDING

The San Mateo County Bar Association recently conducted a plebiscite on two matters of interest to lawyers and the public.

The association, by a vote of 332 to 35, endorsed in principle the proposed legislation which would establish a "Client Protection Fund" of the State Bar of California, whereby all lawyers, except those in public employ, would be required as a condition of membership to pay into the fund.

The fund would be used to pay any meritorious claims lodged by clients against attorneys for attorney negligence resulting in damage to the client. This fund would operate generally in place of professional liability insurance usually carried by attorneys. Commercial insurance rates are becoming prohibitive and may not be readily available in the future.

A second issue presented to association members concerned proposed legislation which would allow virtually unrestricted advertising by attorneys. The members rejected the proposal of unrestricted advertising by a vote of 313 to 51.

Prior to the plebiscite, the Board of Directors of the Association had unanimously voted to endorse the "Client Protection Fund" concept, and reject the idea of unrestricted advertising. The Board felt that the public would be ill-served and inevitably misled by unfettered advertising.

SURVIVAL TRAINING

A pioneering course, presented as a special program of San Francisco State University's Summer Sessions, will give the visual artist intensive training in "Legal Techniques for Economic Survival."

Classes will be held eight consecutive Tuesday evenings, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., beginning July 12 at Cogswell College, 600 Stockton St., San Francisco.

"Arts-Law: Legal Techniques for Economic Survival" is of value to the art dealer, art collector, and to museum personnel, as well as to the visual artist. Topics include: copyright protection; studio sales; artist-dealer relationships; income tax; bookkeeping; and non-profit organizations.

For more information call 469-1373, or Bay Area Lawyers for the Arts at 775-7200.

PACIFICA SIGNALS

Steiny and Company, Inc. has started working on a $66,410 contract to provide signals and left-turn lanes on Route 1 between Sea Bowl Drive and Rockaway Beach Avenue, Pacifica.

Under this contract, a second left-turn lane is being added from southbound Route 1 onto Fessler Avenue and a second right-turn lane is being added from westbound Fessler Avenue to northbound Route 1. Signals are also being modified at Route 1 and Fessler Avenue/Rockaway Beach Avenue.

Approximately 83 percent of the funding necessary for this project is coming from the federal government and the remaining 17 percent is being provided by the state and the City of Pacifica.

All work should be finished by late July.

MEDICAL TALKS

"The Joys of Not Smoking," "The Necessity of Suffering," and "Medical Economics" are just a few of the broad range of topics now available to service organizations, schools and local clubs by speakers from the newly formed speakers bureau of the San Mateo County Medical Society.

Dr. Alex Weisskopf will head the bureau, which was organized by the Community Relations Committee of the Medical Society.

Interested program chairmen can write Weisskopf at the San Mateo County Medical Society, 3080 La Selva, San Mateo 94403, or phone 574-3116.

Skyline President Stresses Community Ties

By JOHN HORGAN

James Wyatt isn't running any more. As a former high school and college track star, he used to spend a lot of time pursuing the elusive athletic brass ring.

But now that he has been named president of Skyline College, he says he isn't interested in seeking any other position. James Wyatt feels he is precisely where he wants to be.

The tall, silver-haired educator prefers to stay put. "My goals do not extend beyond Skyline College," he said Thursday morning during a press conference in his new office at the San Bruno community college.

"I perhaps could have been president of some other college in another area," he said, "but I love this area. I don't want to leave." In truth, Wyatt, 50, has become an integral part of the North County's educational scene.

A resident of Daly City for 22 years, he has worked at Skyline since the school opened in 1969. All three of his children attended Westmoor High School in Daly City. Two of them — James Jr., 23, and Linda, 21 — went to Skyline. A second daughter, Susan, 19, attends the College of San Mateo, another of the San Mateo County Community College District's three campuses. Wyatt and his family moved south to San Mateo a year ago. But that hasn't altered his distinctly North County perspective.

He still maintains that the North County, with its heavy blue collar influence and growing minority populace, has special education needs which are different from those of communities to the south.

Skyline has 7,841 students, 31 per cent of whom are members of minority groups. Among the district's three schools, Skyline has the lowest rate of student transfers to four-year institutions. Skyline, as Wyatt put it, does not have a Hillsborough or an Atherton to draw from.

To meet the needs of these students, Wyatt said, he intends to have Skyline open more branches off campus. He wants to spread Skyline's two-year offerings out into

"I want trustees who are interested in Skyline," he said. "Where they live is not that important to me." He said he would not be drawn into a controversy about the possibility of having the trustees elected from specific districts within San Mateo County.

Wyatt was the heavy favorite for the president's job almost as soon as the former president, Dr. John Petersen, announced he was going to leave to take the superintendent's position in the Cabrillo Community College District in Aptos. Although there were other candidates for the Skyline chair, most assumed from the start that Wyatt was the leading entry.

Wyatt is well-known throughout the North County. He is a native of San Francisco. He has close ties with all segments of the northern portion of the county. He said one advantage he will have as president is that "I know just about everyone here already." He surmised that one of the reasons he got the job so readily is that the staff trusts him, feels comfortable with him and wants consistency and stability in its leadership.

Wyatt, an athlete of some note during his days at defunct Polytechnic High School in San Francisco, City College of San Francisco and the University of California in Berkeley, has particular interest in sports, especially competitive sports.

He has long supported plans to bring a football program to Skyline. He said he would continue to pursue such a notion, as long as it can be demonstrated that football is indeed a priority item in the school's budget. Petersen did not push hard for football. And talk of creating a football team at the San Bruno school has not generated great enthusiasm from the district's trustees or from people at CSM where the district has its only football team.

Wyatt said he understands the pluses and minuses of the football question. Said he, "If we go into football it will be because we have weighed our priorities. It won't be because we just jumped into it."

He added that "I'm sure the subject is going to be revived."

To welcome Wyatt Thursday, the staff threw a party for him in his office. The room was festooned with crepe paper and balloons. A hand-made sign read: "Welcome President Wyatt." The sun was shining too, a positive omen in the often fog-shrouded San Bruno hills.

Wyatt is the school's third president. He was appointed to the post last Wednesday by the board of trustees.

JAMES WYATT

the communities it serves. To that end, you can expect to see Skyline classes being offered in other locations in the near future.

"North County students like the idea of coming to the college," he said. "But we do want to move out more. We want to meet both of these needs." Wyatt is also convinced that the student body must have a continuing opportunity to take career courses, as opposed to college transfer work. There is also an emphasis on remedial course work, especially in English and mathematics.

Although Skyline is in an attendance zone which contains about 40 per cent of the district's total populace, it was the last school built in the system and many believe it continually gets short shrift from the district's officials who are clustered from Hillsborough south. Skyline is also the fastest growing college in the district.

There are no trustees from the North County on the district's governing board, a fact which irritates more than one Skyline spokesman. But Wyatt feels that he can function quite well with or without North County backing on the board.

$3.5 Billion State Water Plan Criticized

A bill passed Thursday by the State Senate that calls for a $3.5 billion program to meet California's water needs through the year 2000 was praised and attacked Friday.

At a meeting of the Association of California Water Agencies in South San Francisco, representatives of more than 150 water agencies from all over the state were on hand.

They were there to question the head of the California Department of Water Resources, Ronald Robie, and other water officials who had hammered out eleventh hour amendments to the bill in the governor's office.

The bill will be considered by the state Assembly when legislators return in August from their summer recess.

ACWA's legislative committee will meet on July 22 to decide whether the influential organization will endorse the bill. With 275 water agency members, ACWA is the largest water group in the state.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Ruben Ayala (D-San Bernardino), was described as a delicate agreement between interests in Northern and Southern California in their battle over the state's future water development. It provides for the development of the controversial Peripheral Canal in the San Francisco-San Joaquin Delta — while assuring that the Delta's water quality will be protected — and calls for the construction of new reservoirs, a dam, groundwater storage projects, and conservation and reclamation efforts.

Funding hinges on federal participation. Harlan Hill, general manager of the North Coast County Water District, said he feels the peripheral Canal is essential.

"There's no two ways about it. It's no good to build dams unless we can get water through the Delta," said Hill.

He noted that San Mateo County will benefit from the project by receiving greater quantities of water.

By the year 2000, the project's annual yield is expected to be 3.8 million acre-feet, compared to the present 2.3 million acre feet.

But other water representatives had nothing good to say about the measure.

"When Sen. Ayala got done with this bill, she was a beautiful woman. When Ron Robie got done with it, she was an ugly, old broad," said Joseph Sommers, an engineer with the Hacienda Water District.

"That's better than no woman at all," responded Robie.

Bikers Disturbing Residents

A delegation of Frenchmen Creek residents appeared before Half Moon Bay City Councilmen Tuesday night to appeal for protection from youngsters shooting airguns through their windows and motorcyclists speeding down their streets.

The situation has become so bad, Helen Bedesem reported, that a gun was stuck through a knothole in her 8-foot high fence and a shot was fired through her 91-year-old mother's bedroom window.

"If she had been standing up, she would have been shot," Mrs. Bedesem said.

"This is not fun and games anymore."

City Manager W. Fred Mortensen said the police department has been ordered to issue citations instead of warnings as was done previously.

Police Chief John E. Gonzales reported it would help his officers if residents would identify the offenders.

Mrs. Bedesem answered she was able to, but was afraid to because she feared retaliation.

"When these kids climb my 8-foot fence, if they should fall off and break an arm, am I responsible?"

she asked City Atty. James Fox.

Fox agreed that a suit might be filed against Mrs. Bedesem, although there would be no assurance she would lose it.

Another neighbor said "the little tykes" are a problem when they "get into my yard but can't get out."

Mayor Joseph Marmont agreed the problem is a serious one in all areas of Half Moon Bay, adding, "There seems to be an epidemic of broken windows from BB guns. I just got through replacing three windows myself today."

Councilman Melvin A. Mello asked if it was not possible to resume a horse patrol used in the city last year.

Gonzales said that while the patrol is no longer available, the city is beginning to utilize the sheriff's helicopter on weekends to spot and trail offenders.

The residents complained the motorcyclists ride through a city park on the street at 45 miles per hour to reach a hill owned by Half Moon Bay Properties, Inc. They asked if the company could be persuaded to fence its property.

Parking Problem Angers Citizens

San Pedro residents are pursuing their case against an auto dealer in Pacifica who recently received a permit to park cars in a portion of the Pedro Point Shopping Center.

Residents complained to the Pacifica City Council recently that Miller and Petersen Chrysler-Plymouth causes too much congestion near the busy intersection of San Pedro Road and Highway 1. The dealer processes cars for rental agencies.

After a lengthy argument, the council upheld the permit which was issued by the Planning Commission and which San Pedro residents had appealed.

The vote was 3-2, with Council members Mark Savage and Janice Fulford opposed to upholding the permit.

Phyllis Hoops of Pacifica claims that the dealer has already violated his use permit.

"The agreement was not to have any further auto delivered on state property. Today there are 10 cars sitting out there," Mrs. Hoops said.

She added that she intends to inform the City Council about the situation. Warren E. Miller of Miller and Petersen explained that he had received a shipment of cars Tuesday. "I cannot control where the trucks unload the cars, but they are never left overnight," he said.

Miller argued that he has been through all the necessary legal channels, and expressed exasperation at his critics.

"This is just a 60-day lease to store cars on an empty dirt lot," he argued.

Miller said he temporarily parks no more than 75 cars at a time as he processes them for delivery to Hertz, Avis and National car rental firms.

In presenting a petition with 70 names on it to the council, Marianne Coss said that the vehicles are an additional hazard in an area already congested and confusing.

She told the council that the parked cars blocked pickup points for school buses, causing children to have to run across the busy highway to catch their buses.

"Nonsense," replied Miller. "Kids have been running across that highway for years."

In voting to uphold the Planning Commission, Councilman Nick Gust said, "I can't agree that there's congestion of traffic. I drive by there every day and I haven't seen it."

Gust continued, "When are we ever going to be a community to try to help somebody out? He (Miller) already went before the Planning Commission."

Councilwoman Fulford countered, "As far as I'm concerned, a parking lot is ugly and hurts the welfare of the neighborhood."

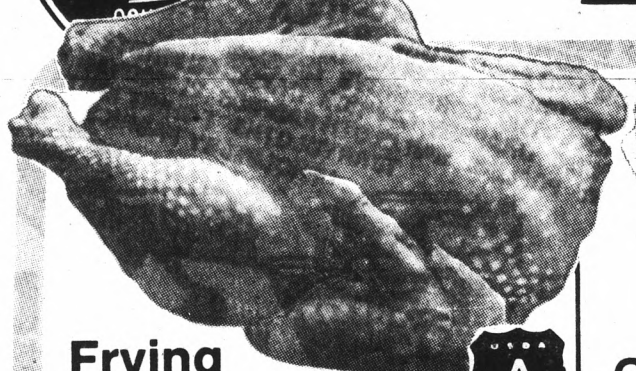

Planning Administrator Mac Carpenter noted that the city might revoke a use permit only if it received a number of complaints.

Mrs. Coss said she intends to ask the Coastal Zone Commission whether it has jurisdiction over the area. That possibility had been suggested by Mrs. Fulford at the council meeting.

Diane Landry, a planner at the Coastal Zone Commission, said she didn't know offhand whether the commission has jurisdiction in the matter.

"I thought I'd heard of everything. This is a new one to me," she remarked.

County Budget 'Roadshow'

By JANET PARKER
The mood ranged from sympathy to outrage among North County taxpayers who attended the first meeting on the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors' budget roadshow last Thursday.

Most of those who attended the informal session at Skyline College in San Bruno agreed with County Manager Dave Nichols' contention that the state and federal government are largely to blame for much of the county budget balancing difficulties.

Still, a few others criticized the supervisors and warned them to tighten their belts rather than take advantage of increased property assessments. "We have to revolt," one man said. "We have to stop giving you the money you're asking for."

He said taxpayers should give the county the same amount they did last year in taxes, plus 5 per cent. "If we don't give you the money, something will have to be done," he said.

Others were interested in Supervisor Ed Bacciocco's suggestion that the county seriously consider withholding payments to the state for programs mandated by law. It could force the state, he said, to administer those programs and collect the funds from taxpayers.

"We are nothing but strong-arm men for the state," Bacciocco said. "This is the hypocrisy that motivated us to have these meetings."

The meeting was the first of three planned in the county to acquaint taxpayers with budget preparation facts and to gain input on budget priorities. About 70 persons, ranging from city officials to ordinary taxpayers, attended the North County meeting.

Board Chairman John Ward said he was both "surprised and disappointed" at the turnout. "I won't attempt to interpret it," Ward said. The supervisors apparently were prepared for a larger, more vociferous crowd.

In-service Teachers Resign

All in-service training teachers at the Jefferson Elementary School District, Daly City, have quit, and principals Friday conducted the workshop themselves, district administrators reported. Eight training leaders provided by Educators Improvement Service, Albany, left the district Thursday morning. The ninth quit Thursday afternoon. The in-service training has been a point of contention in the district for the past several months. All teachers are required to attend, though they are doing so under protest. Dr. Vernon Larsen, director of Educators Improvement Service, had said the in-service leaders were quitting out of frustration. District teachers simply had not paid any attention to the leaders he said.

San Bruno Council Post Challenger

Ray Schenone, a San Bruno resident for 12 years, has announced he intends to campaign for one of three posts on the City Council in the March 9 election. Schenone joins Douglas Dawkins, president of the San Mateo County Taxpayers Association, as an early challenger. The council posts held by Tony Governale, Dick Griffith and Marge Kozkowski will expire next year. Schenone was a member of the San Bruno Land Use Advisory Committee and is on the San Mateo County Parks and Recreation Advisory Committee. He also is a member of the San Mateo County Taxpayers Association. Schenone said he has never run for political office. He, his wife, Elizabeth and their three children live in Crestmoor.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

The Gust Family's 50-Year Celebration

On July 2, 3 and 4 the GUST restaurant flag will have been flying for fifty years at the same Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, location. The present generation of Gusts, NICK and LORRAINE, and their son CHARLES, have abundant reason for celebrating the fifty years of piloting the "ship of success", which Nick's mother and father, ANASTASIA and CHARLES, launched in days of yore. Your Bright Lighter has been a member of the Gust crew for numerous years, having written about the many restaurant expansions, which now include NICK'S, THE MOONRAKER and CAPTAIN CHARLES restaurants. The Gust family is going all-out to make this big July celebration, held at Nick's, a festive occasion. Starting Saturday, July 2, there will be dining and dancing to the music of JIM PAYERS ORCHESTRA. PETE RANGAVES' Greek music will be an added feature, with Belly Dancers FARASH and SINDA. The regular menu will be available, plus special Greek hors d'oeuvres. On Sunday, July 3, the Golden New Year's Eve celebration will take place, with hats, horns and noisemakers, and featuring the same talented entertainers, as well as the Coast's favorite recording artist, MARY ANN HAY. Reservations will be accepted from 9 p.m. On Monday, July 4, climaxing the three-day event, a special "All you can eat" Fizz Brunch will be served for just $3.50 From 4 to 7 p.m. on this day Nick will turn back the bar prices to the days when drinks were 50 cents and beer 25 cents. Dancing to Jim Payers group. This three-day gala commemorating fifty successful years in the bar and restaurant business by one family certainly deserves your support. Judging from the Gusts' progress in the past 50 years, it looks like another 50 for the future. From this corner, Nick, the best of everything to you and yours. . . . One of San Francisco's most delightful dining traditions is Sunday Brunch at ROSEBUD'S ENGLISH PUB, the elegant new $1 million restaurant on Geary Street's theater row, adjoining the Hotel St. Francis. Brunch is on tap from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Prices are very modest (six of the brunch entrees are just $3.75). . . . Pizzas small, medium and extra large (14 inches) are served at ROMANO'S ITALIAN AND SEAFOOD restaurant in Rockaway Beach. To eat in or take out. If you don't see all you want on your pizza, ask if it can be added. . . . AL KING, C.M.A.'s Artists' manager, and his wife recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. ECKHARD LUBBA of the Royal Coach Motor Hotel for dinner at SCOTTIE CAMPBELL'S in Redwood City. . . . With the PHILLIES, Braves, Dodgers Pirates and Mets staying at the San Francisco Hilton whenever they're in town to play the Giants, PHIL LEHR'S Pay-By-Ounce Steakery, on the lower level of the Hilton Tower, Taylor Street entrance, is the perfect place to meet your favorite baseball stars. . . . THE RAMADA INN, Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco, is now offering disco dancing lessons every Friday and Sunday from 8 to 9 p.m. Lessons are $3.50 per person. You can use the occasion to brush up or to learn the most advanced steps. . . . JOY KAPUR, owner of the TAJ MAHAL restaurant in San Francisco, is featuring a special coupon offer (see Bright Lights) of Indian soup, Papadams (Indian appetizers), chicken, beef, rice, pratha and rice pudding for $8.75. . . . What was thunder is now a roar, and the beat goes on at the BAYHILL LOUNGE in San Bruno. The new program of live music seven nights a week has received much approval from the party crowds. Owners HARRY CURRIS and MEL CICERO can chalk up another hit. . . . THE FLOWER MART restaurant, popular for breakfasts and lunches, is now serving dinners. Owners BILL and ROY ARMANINO will feature an Italian Veal Dinner as the house specialty. A garden theme enhances the new dining room and was designed by Bill's wife FRANK. . . . There is dancing nightly and Sunday afternoons at San Francisco's new and elegant discotheque, the Cabaret adjoining LEHR'S GREENHOUSE Garden restaurant. Dinner and Sunday Brunch guests at the Greenhouse receive valuable complimentary door charge cards so they can cap their feast with dancing in the fabulous Cabaret. . . . MARIO MORAY, versatile and talented dancer at FINOCCHIO'S, a world famed night spot on San Francisco's Broadway, has introduced a new toe dance number into his act which is performed to the Skaters' Waltz. The audience sways and hums and has a great time as Mario goes through his routine. Now on its summer schedule, Finocchio's is open every night except Monday for four shows nightly.

SamTrans to Operate On the Fourth of July

SamTrans Mainline Service will operate up and down the Peninsula on 30 minute frequencies on July 4.

In addition, SamTrans Coastside buses will operate between the Daly City BART Terminal and Half Moon Bay, and a local route will link buses with Marine World-Africa USA from Hillsdale and Belmont.

Mainline service between San Francisco and the Peninsula will begin at 6:40 a.m. northbound and 5:30 a.m. southbound. Last northbound trip from Page Mill Road, Palo Alto, is at 10:40 p.m. Last Palo Alto-bound bus from downtown San Francisco leaves at 11:15 p.m.

Because BART will be operating on July 4, SamTrans Route 5L (downtown San Francisco to Hillsdale via Mission Street and El Camino) will include the Daly City BART Terminal.

Other Mainline routes operating on July 4 are 7A (downtown San Francisco to Palo Alto via International Airport) and 7S (downtown San Francisco to Redwood City, also via the Airport).

On the Coastside, first bus for BART leaves Linday Mar at 6:45 a.m. Four northbound departures from Half Moon Bay leave at 7:10 a.m., 11:10 a.m., 3:10 p.m. and 7:10 p.m. Final arrival at BART is at 8 p.m.

Southbound service begins from BART-Daly City at 8:30 a.m., with last bus for Linda Mar at 7:15 p.m.

Half Moon Bay arrivals from BART-Daly City are scheduled for 10:05 a.m., 2:05 p.m. and 6:05 p.m.

On the Bayside, local buses for Marine World will leave Hillsdale on El Camino every half hour, beginning at 9:30 a.m. They will reach Ralston Avenue in Belmont 10 minutes later. Travel time to Marine World is an additional seven minutes, and last departure from the park is at 7 p.m.

No other local SamTrans buses will run on the Fourth.

Further information on July 4 service is available from the SamTrans Telephone Information Center.

Le Pacini

(First of a series)

George Kelly has lived in Millbrae for almost half a century, but is possibly San Mateo County's most unknown celebrity. Kelly is a Hall of Fame first baseman, the last living member of the great Giants' John McGraw pennant winners from 1921-24, and is the only first baseman in history who is probably more well known for his arm than for his other skills, which were, obviously, considerable.

Kelly, known as "Highpockets" for the obvious reason that, at 6'4", his pockets are high off the ground, devoted 28 years of his life to the big league; 16 as a player, 11 as a coach, and one as a scout. Yet, he doesn't get a fraction of the publicity that some other less talented, less durable oldtimers have gotten. And it really doesn't bother him.

Kelly shrugs his still huge shoulders, waves the thought off with the ham-like hand, and says, "I played because I loved the game and it was a good way for me to make a living. I never expected to get rich, records never meant anything to me, and I still don't care about publicity."

Kelly's arm, in fact, has probably gotten more publicity than the rest of his body put together. So respected and valuable was his arm that he used to range to the outfield to take relays — including hits to left field!

"WHEN I FIRST WENT to spring training with McGraw," recalls Kelly with a chuckle, "they tried to make a pitcher out of me. But I couldn't throw a curve, and if you couldn't throw a curve, you couldn't pitch for McGraw."

In those days — especially if one played for McGraw — one did not specialize. He was whatever McGraw thought he should be to help the club. So Kelly, who was one of the premier power hitters of his day, was also one of McGraw's batting practice pitchers, and was often used in spring training games, especially in the early ones, because Kelly always kept in top condition and was consequently often the only player whose arm was really ready in early spring.

"One game in Dallas," reminisces Kelly about the McGraw competitive spirit, "I was throwing against a Texas league team. Nothing but blazing fast balls, right down the middle, like in batting practice, and I was ahead 1-0 after five innings. Had a one-hitter going."

"Now, McGraw had told me that I would probably only go five innings, so I hadn't bothered to pace myself. But when I came in after the fifth, thinking I was through, McGraw said, 'You're looking pretty good, go ahead and finish the game.'"

"ABOUT THE SEVENTH INNING, my arm was getting tired. I was getting wild. They had a couple of men on and McGraw came out, and I figured I'd be leaving, but all he does is tell me not to give this lefthander coming up anything good to hit. Which to me, when you're pitching, you either pitch to a batter or walk him. It's ridiculous to nibble around. So I challenged the guy and he hit one and we got beat; 2-1. We go in the clubhouse, losing this dinky little exhibition game with a first baseman pitching, and you'd think I'd lost the World Series! McGraw called me everything."

Kelly pitched in only one regular major league game. And, because of McGraw's sometimes anomalous personality, that game also had a touch of the bizarre for Kelly.

Joe Oeschger, a Philadelphia youngster who six years later would hurl the longest game in major league history (26 innings), was to face the Giants in the last series of a season in which the Giants were going nowhere, right along with the Phillies. McGraw somehow found out that Oeschger, who had 16 wins, had a clause in his contract which would bring him a bonus $1,000 if he won 17 games.

Oeschger was McGraw's type of player — tough, unyielding and uncompromising, and McGraw liked him and wanted to see him grab that extra $1,000. But McGraw would never throw a game; nor even give the appearance of going easy on the enemy. He wasn't, however, opposed to giving an enemy a fighting chance, under certain unusual conditions. So he started one of his older pitchers, Pol Perritt, let him throw one inning, and then told Kelly to finish the game because, "Perritt is tiring."

"I went into the bandbox in Phillie," relates Kelly, "throwing nothing but fast balls right down the middle. Now, those Phillies could really powder the ball, and they were swinging from their tails, they were so anxious, and they hit nothing but pop flies. I shut them out on four hits for five innings and then I tired and McGraw pulled me; but we won."

"McGraw WAS SORE as hell at me. That's a helluva thing to do to a good guy like Oeschger."

Despite such incidents, Kelly feels he was fortunate to play for McGraw. "I was 6'4", weighed 165, but he kept me around. Later on, when I was coaching for the Oakland A's, a fan called me over and said he had seen me play in the polo grounds, and asked me how my aunt was. I said, 'Who?' He said, 'Your aunt, Mrs. McGraw.' That's how lousy I was when I first got there. They wondered why McGraw would keep me around, and figured I must be related to him."

Kelly doesn't pooh-pooh McGraw's legendary cussedness, but he down plays it. "McGraw was a man who ran a team like a business. Every spring training we'd have a meeting the first day in the clubhouse. He'd say, 'These are my rules and regulations. You're in the dining room at 9, you're in your room every night at 11:30 when you're on the road.'"

I used to tell the guys that came in from different clubs, 'Now don't lie to this man. He's running this thing and he'll know everything you do, and he's not going to sit up every night watching you come in and out. He's got bell hops and room clerks on his side.' That's right, McGraw had a regular paid spy system throughout the league's hotels.

"BUT McGraw WAS a man you could trust. Some guys, they'd doublecross you every minute. If you played for McGraw, he'd back you on the field, no matter what, even if you were wrong. After a game he'd call you everything in the clubhouse, but after that, it would be gone. You'd start fresh. He didn't hold a grudge."

"Now, in the matter of my behavior when I was with the Giants, I was no angel, but McGraw never saw me out around New York at night. I'll let you in on one little secret. I had friends over in Hackensack, and that's where I used to go. I just stayed out of McGraw's way."

McGraw, says Kelly, had a towering ego and took credit for everything. He remembers one particular game against Pittsburgh in 1921 at the polo grounds. Pittsburgh had a 7½ game lead over the Giants with 24 games left when they started that five game series. In the first game, Kelly was at bat with the bags loaded and the score tied. He got three quick balls on him and figured he would have the take, because, "As long as I'd been with McGraw, he'd never let anybody hit with a 3-0 count. I looked at the third base coach and he still had it on. I couldn't believe it, but there it was. As luck would have it, I got one laid in there and I hit it up in the seats! After the game, McGraw came in the clubhouse and said, 'If my brains hold out, I'll win this pennant.'"

Note: The Giants swept that series and went on to win the pennant and the World Series.

TAKE ME OUT TO THE BALL GAME . . .

Baseball is a summer sport, and no one knows better than these Daly City youngsters who attended a recent San Francisco Giants versus Chicago Cubs game at Candlestick Park. About 250

Daly City youngsters attended as part of the Recreation Department's summer program. The only sour note: the Giants lost.

Swimming Lessons Available

The Peninsula YMCA is putting greater emphasis upon learning to swim and water safety according to Steve Twisten, health and fitness director, because about two-thirds of all drowning victims do not know how to swim.

Therefore, the YMCA is offering "Learn to Swim" classes for all ages. Classes vary from water acclimation with the parent/baby program for children eight months to three years old; special small group lessons are used to instruct the 3-to-5-year-old group.

For the elementary age level, there are beginning, intermediate and advance lessons. Adult lessons are also available for those who wish to learn or improve swimming skills.

Classes continue throughout the summer; for more information call the Peninsula YMCA at 342-5228.

Volleyball's Final Results

Daly City's Recreation Department-sponsored girls volleyball leagues were wrapped up Saturday. Here are the final eighth grade results:

In action Friday night at War Memorial, St. Thomas More's Saints defeated St. Andrews Scots 15-10, 4-15 and 15-2, Julie Greene and Cindy Philapil led the way for the Saints. Barbara Madrieres played excellently in a losing cause for St. Andrews Scots.

On Saturday action the OLM Reds defeated BYA's Netters in straight games 15-10, 15-11. The win sewed up the title for OLM. The BYA All Stars finished second and the Scots and Saints tied for third.

Murphy Is Third

John Murphy, a Pacifica fireman, finished sixth overall and third in his age group (30-39) in the sixth annual Fireman's Olympics' marathon in Newport Beach last week.

His time was 3 hours and 34 minutes, 25 minutes behind the clocking of Hillsborough's Larry Landis. Landis, a 27-year-old Burlingame fireman, clocked 3:14 to take fourth overall and second in the 18-30 group.

Rich Lee, a 22-year-old Millbrae fireman, finished in 3:35 for seventh place overall and third in the 18-30 group.

Merchants Split DH

The San Mateo Merchants split a San Jose Association doubleheader with San Leandro, losing the first game 10-9 and then coming back to win Sunday's nightcap 11-9.

John Papanicolas came in in relief to pick up the win for the Merchants in the second game. His three-run triple in the seventh won it for San Mateo. The Merchants are now 3-3 in the SJA.

SSF Pair Still Hot

The one-two punch of John Donalaya and Rich Bordin, which carried El Camino High's baseball team to a Central Coast Section title, struck again Sunday afternoon at Orange Park.

The South San Francisco pitching combo hurled SSF's Joe DiMaggio League team to a doubleheader sweep over defending State champion Flying Goose (Daly City). SSF won the first game 6-0 and took the nightcap 3-1.

South City is now all alone in first place with a 5-1 record (it lost 5-1 to Flying Goose on Wednesday). San Bruno, which split its twin-bill with Eureka Federal Savings (San Mateo) is in second place at 4-2.

In another North Peninsula Joe DiMaggio League doubleheader Lou's 66 (Pacifica) swept Millbrae. Millbrae is now in third place with a 3-3 record.

Donalaya, now 2-0 in league play, struck out 12 and walked two. Shortstop Jose Martinez had a two-run single to pace SSF's attack.

Bordin won the second game with relief help from lefthander John Vincent. Bordin won his own game in the third with a two-run single. SSF's victory snapped Ken Anders' 10-game DiMaggio League win skein.

San Bruno edged Eureka 4-3 in the opener at Beresford Park (San Mateo) and then got trounced 9-1 in the second game.

San Bruno won the first game in the second on a two-run single by Steve Mooney. Mike Dutil surrendered only four hits to get the win for San Bruno.

Eureka outhit San Bruno 9-3 in the nightcap, with Chris Joyner getting credit for the victory. Joyner went the distance as he struck out six and walked four.

Lou's surprised Millbrae 8-5 and 10-8 at Terra Nova High. Mike Diaz got the win for Lou's in the first game and Daryl Fazio had two hits and four RBIs.

Gordon Shirley was the winning pitcher for Lou's in the second game. Mike Mooney had two hits and knocked in the winning run for Lou's.

SSF's record is 10-2-1. Bordin has 10 wins and 2 losses. Donalaya has 2 wins and 0 losses.

Hawaiian Cookies

Good morning, good cooks.
Having just returned from a delightful vacation in Hawaii and longing to return again soon, my mind is on Hawaiian things. These delightful cookies featuring macadamia nuts and candied pineapple won a prize in the Bake-Off a few years ago.

MACADAMIA NUT COOKIES

- $\frac{3}{4}$  cup butter
- $\frac{1}{2}$  cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons milk
- $1\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoons cinnamon
- 2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- $\frac{3}{4}$  teaspoons salt
- $\frac{1}{2}$  cup finely chopped candied pineapple
- $\frac{3}{4}$  cup chopped macadamia nuts

In large mixing bowl, combine the three-fourths cup butter, one-half cup sugar, two tablespoons milk and one and one-half teaspoons cinnamon, creaming well.

Sift together the two cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder and three-fourths teaspoon salt. Blend into creamed mixture. Stir in the half cup chopped candied pineapple and three-fourths cup chopped nuts.

Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased cookie sheets. Flatten with bottom of glass which has been dipped in sugar. Bake in 375 degree oven 7 to 10 minutes.

Makes about 48 delicious cookies.

Still thinking Hawaiian, how about this very fancy chicken dish with pineapple, ham, cheese and mushrooms to give it pizzazz?

PINEAPPLE CHICKEN

- $2\frac{1}{2}$  to 3 pounds frying chicken, cut in pieces
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup flour
- $1\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon salt
- $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon pepper
- $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon thyme
- Enough butter for browning chicken
- $\frac{1}{2}$  pound sharp cheddar cheese, shredded
- $\frac{1}{2}$  pound cooked ham, cut in strips
- 1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms
- 1 can (14 ounces) pineapple tidbits
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup pineapple juice

Combine the fourth cup flour, one and one half teaspoons salt and half teaspoon each of pepper and thyme. Roll the chicken pieces in flour and brown in butter, turning to brown on all sides.

NELL

Transfer to two-quart casserole or oblong baking dish, and sprinkle the half-pound each shredded cheese and strips of ham over top. Add the four-ounce can of mushrooms and liquid. Drain the 14-ounce can of pineapple, reserving one-fourth cup of the liquid. Place the tidbits over top of chicken and pour the fourth cup juice over all.

Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 40 minutes. Remove cover and bake 10 minutes longer.

Knights to Sell Fireworks

Grand Knight Joseph Capurro announced that Marian Council No. 3773, Knights of Columbus, will operate its annual Fireworks stand through July 4. The stand will be in the parking lot of L&M Electronics, 2401 Geneva Ave., Daly City, opposite the Cow Palace.

Funds from the sale go to the Youth Activities of the council.

GIRL SCOUTING

Camping opportunities for this summer still are available for individual scouts and non-scouts through the Daly City Area Girl Scout Association.

Carole Ann Scott, 1843 Louvaine Drive, Colma, (755-1080), camp coordinator, has information for girls interested in Sierra Camp, July 10-15 at Sugar Pine in the Sierras for $54 including bus transportation.

Daly City also is running a day camp from Aug. 8-12, directed by Joan Stewart, at Camp Ida Smith with registration fee of $8 to include a beach day at Thornton Beach.

Honored at the recent Daly City Girl Scout Association luncheon were two liaisons who have devoted hours of service to girls by serving in schools, churches and public service groups to place girls in troops.

Elaine McDowell and Bunne Pardini received certificates of recognition for their services to local scouts.

First class scout presentations recently were made in Daly City for 11 local young ladies who have achieved the highest award in girl scouting.

From troop No. 716, led by Kris Dale and Sharon Pardini, honorees included Linda Pardini, Dayna Figone and Karen Cirino.

From Cadette troop No. 1595 led by Sally Raeta and Dolores Riggs, achievers included Staci Cubic, Jean Fahy, Mary Lou Kachur, Maureen Monahan, Judy Mudge, Eva Punzo and Marcy Raeta.

Cadette liaison Elaine McDowell introduced the girls and Association Chairman Mary Ann Dale was guest speaker at the ceremony and tea attended by the girls, their parents, incoming seventh graders and their parents as well as members of the association.

Coastal Slope Newest Park

A gift of more than 200 acres of coastal slope, once the site of a Nike missile base near the City of Pacifica, was accepted by the County Board of Supervisors.

The property, to be used as a North County park, was offered by the U.S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

Supervisors authorized the county manager to sign a certificate accepting the gift of 196 acres in the Milagra Ridge Military Reservation.

The board also appropriated $5,000 for utilities and security of the property.

Duane Mattison, director of parks and recreation, told the board that the county also will receive another 36 acres donated to the City of Pacifica. The director explained that Pacifica recently took action to relinquish the land to the county.

Mattison also reported that the Golden Gate Council of American Youth Hostels, Inc., has expressed interest in developing and operating a hostel on the property.

"This program would be an asset to the county by providing a program and surveillance for this property that would relieve the county of considerable cost in both development and operation and maintenance," Mattison said.

Negotiations to give the property to the county began after the land was declared surplus in June 1975.

The Nike defense base was closed in August, 1974.

NEWS DIGEST

SEARCH FOR VOTERS

The County Clerk's Office of San Mateo County has qualified for President Carter's federal employment fund assistance for the conduct of voter registration throughout the county.

Three temporary employees will participate in a one-year program designed to assist in implementing the mandated Voter "Outreach" Registration procedure. The County Clerk pointed out that this program will have no impact on the county budget.

The current registration figure of 265,000, as pointed out by County Clerk-Recorder Marvin Church, falls far below the registration voter potential of the county estimated at a total in excess of 350,000.

BART BIKE DISCOUNTS

BART will be offering special introductory discounts on its new fully enclosed bike lockers until July 1.

The introductory offer of $5 discounts will apply to all lease agreements for the new lockers according to BART Consumer Service Supervisor Kay Shirley, who oversees the program.

She said the lockers are owned and maintained by the District and have been installed at all stations except the downtown subway stations.

The lockers were installed in an effort to encourage the use of bicycles as a form of transit access.

San Bruno Recreation Center Comes to Life

San Bruno is well on the way to having a new recreation and meeting facility in a building where residents shopped for groceries for many years.

The downtown Community Center will be located in the old "Hatlo Market" building on San Mateo Avenue.

San Bruno crews recently gutted the inside of the building. The next step, according to Recreation Supervisor Mike Doerner, will be to complete architectural drawings for the total renovation.

Architect Hashim Al-Yassim of Millbrae has been hired by the City Council to complete the preliminary drawings.

In the meantime, Doerner said, the Recreation

Department is seeking the assistance of nearby residents "to help ensure that the design of the facility will meet the needs of the people who will be using it."

Needed are persons who live in the area or are familiar with the population of the neighborhoods east of El Camino Real.

In particular, Doerner said, residents with Asian and Pacific Island backgrounds are needed to represent the area.

Interested residents should contact Doerner at the San Bruno Recreation Department, or Larry Smith at the Planning and Building Department.

San Bruno officials have been seeking a recreation center for lower San Bruno residents for several years.

When the council was unable to acquire the North Brae School site, which was abandoned by the San Bruno Park School District, it began considering Hatlo Market.

"This is essentially the same project that was under consideration two years ago," Doerner said.

"When the acquisition of North Brae School wasn't effected, it was necessary to delay the project until we could locate another suitable facility."

Earlier this year, the council purchased the Hatlo building for $155,000, using federal Housing and Community Development Act funds intended for the original North Brae project.

Equipment and operation costs, however, will become the city's responsibility after the facility is completed.

The center will be available for use by all San Bruno residents, Doerner said. However, the city was particularly concerned about providing a facility for those persons with moderate incomes and special needs in neighborhoods adjacent to the center, he added.

The remodeling is expected to be completed in late spring.

NO STRANGER TO GOVERNMENT AGENCIES

Joe Geller reflects on growth.

Head Bumps on the Ceiling Was a Start

By BILL HURSCHMANN

Some people move to San Mateo County to enjoy its moderate year-round climate.

Others like its spacious lots and finely crafted homes.

But, Joe Geller moved here so his wife wouldn't hit her head on the bathroom ceiling of their Quonset hut at Hunter's Point.

That was 19 years ago, and for attorney Geller it has taken him from his original Burlingame apartment to a spacious home in Hillsborough, where he and Beryl have resided for the past seven years.

Geller, a graduate of the University of Miami's School of Law, conducted his general law practice in Millbrae until two months ago, when he relocated in Burlingame.

Before he moved to San Mateo County 19 years ago, Geller was a career naval officer, stationed at Treasure Island. He already had taken the Massachusetts bar examinations (he was born and raised in New Bedford, Mass.), and the California bar exam.

Although Geller will tackle any type of legal problem, perhaps the majority of his cases involve real estate.

"I represent a lot of people in the construction business," he says, "and because of that, I find myself appearing before a lot of planning commissions and city councils."

He's no stranger to government agencies, having served nine years on the Millbrae Planning Commission and is now president of the San Mateo County Visitors and Convention Bureau, as a representative of the county fair board.

During his tenure as planning commissioner, Geller saw and ruled on a number of major Millbrae developments, "some of which I'm proud of and some of which I'm not so proud of," he says.

Latin Music Due Sunday

Salsa Alacran, a Latin music group, will give a concert Sunday in San Mateo's Central Park, beginning at 1:30 p.m., sponsored by the Parks and Recreation Department. The 10-member group produces a new blend of musical sounds that fuse Afro-Cuban, Puerto Rican, Mexican, Colombian and Panamanian traditions.

Work: Antidote to Crime

The San Bruno neighborhood that vowed earlier this month to fight an alarming increase in crime is working to keep youths busy and off the streets this summer.

Resident Gail Misel, who organized a community meeting with police attended by about 100 Pacific Heights residents on June 2, said she's finding out that neighborhood children are interested in filling their idle summer hours with constructive work.

She's spent several Saturdays supervising youths cleaning up the neighborhood and the shopping center.

"It's surprising," she said. "Kids are soliciting me. They walk by and ask if they can help, too."

Pacific Heights residents were frustrated with repeated burglaries and vandalism in their community which borders Pacifica.

Since the beginning of the year, there have been more than 30 burglaries in their neighborhood.

At the meeting many of the residents said they were ready to take the law in their own hands. Some admitted they are keeping guns by the door to frighten away intruders.

Many of the residents were most upset with the juvenile justice system. They believe many of the local crimes are committed by neighborhood children.

So, Mrs. Misel has been organizing groups of young people — usually no more than 10 at a time — and putting them to work every weekend.

Each time, she said, she's presented them a reward for their efforts — ranging from free passes for local movies to picnic lunches she prepares.

Children from 9 to 15 have been joining Mrs. Misel picking up litter and pulling weeds. She's also arranging for the children to help out the city, pulling weeds and cutting the grass in dry, fire danger areas.

This last Saturday, a group was going to paint and clean the shopping center.

Later in the summer, Mrs. Misel will help local teens organize a flea market featuring their own hand-crafts.

The youths who have participated, she said, have been both the ones frequently in trouble with police and those who never get in trouble at all. Each time, she attempts to mix the children so they aren't working with their friends.

Often, different children in the neighborhood don't intermingle because parents say, "Stay away from them." The so-called "neighborhood troublemakers" never get a chance to make friends with a good crowd, she said.

In the meantime, the dormant Pacific Heights Homeowners Association is being revived to focus on crime prevention in the community.

Coastal Commission To Consider Appeals

Members of the California Coastal Commission are to hear an appeal from "Keep Pacifica Scenic" when they meet Tuesday and Wednesday, July 5 and 6, at the Burlingame Hyatt House.

The Pacifica organization is appealing a decision of the Central Coast Regional Commission to grant a permit to Daly City for a park facility and solid waste station at Mussel Rock.

The matter will be taken up at Tuesday's hearing, beginning at 1 p.m. The session Wednesday will begin at 8 a.m.

An appeal will be made to the commission by George H. Dillon claiming a Central Coast ruling denies him permission to divide 104 acres at 321 Verde Road south of Half Moon Bay into four lots.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hadland are appealing a decision denying them a permit for a two-story single-family home on June Hollow Road, off Hill Street, between Montara and Moss Beach.

Millbrae Wants Taxpayer's Bill the Same

By BILL HURSCHMANN

Millbrae's City Council Monday night began cutting the city's $4.5 million budget for 1977-78, trying to get taxpayer's actual dollar tax bill down to last year's level.

The proposed budget submitted by City Admin. Lee Horner, if adopted by council in its original form, would result in a three-cent drop in the city tax rate.

However, with increases in assessed valuation, an average taxpayer in the city would expect to pay more actual money. Assessed valuation throughout Millbrae increased 15.2 per cent.

Councilman Bernie Esser, explaining the assessment on his home had increased 24 per cent, led the council through 3½ hours of budget scrutiny.

"The city's property tax income has skyrocketed since 1973-74," Esser said, "and I think there has to be a reduction in the bill we give to the taxpayer."

"We should cut about $100,000 from the budget to ease the burden on the taxpayer. We need to take a very strong look at where we are going to spend the money."

Esser said he'd like to see a seven or eight-cent reduction in the city's tax rate, rather than the three-cent drop proposed by Horner.

Councilman Tulio Bertini echoed Esser's remarks. "We need to look at the community and what services are provided," Bertini said.

"We're mainly a residential community and people suffer for living in a residential community, because of the burden of property taxes. People must be told this."

"We must keep up with the inflationary tide. If what the taxpayer must pay is within the inflationary rate, then we're holding the line."

"Unfortunately, as projected next year, the actual cash value of a house has increased. The public looks at their taxes and looks at the total and says the City of Millbrae is to blame. The public must be educated as to where their tax dollars go."

The city's total tax rate for 1976-77 was 98.3 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. Horner's proposed budget calls for a drop to 95.4 cents per $100.

The councilmen examined the budget, page by page, completing their study of perhaps half of the document.

The cuts began on the first as the council trimmed its own budget by $400, reducing to $2,000 the council's allotment for conferences and meetings.

The council also deleted $500 from the city administrator's travel fund, $782 from the administrator's budget proposed for replacement of drapery in Horner's office and sliced $545 from the planning department's travel expenses.

At the direction of Esser, the council asked Horner to prepare new budgets for the police and fire departments to reflect a total decrease of $30,000.

"The Police Department has been overbudgeted each year for the past three years," Esser said, "and I think we should reduce their budget by $10,000." Esser said the department has underspent its allotment by $39,000 total during the past three years.

As for the Fire Department, Esser recommended a $20,000 cut, also indicating the department has spent substantially less than it has been allotted in recent years.

The city's park and recreation department also will have to come up with a new budget proposal. Councilmen asked it to reduce expenses by $10,000.

The council also put the Chamber of Commerce's $16,000 request in jeopardy. Esser recommended a $10,000 allocation, but first asked the chamber to present a "detailed report of what the chamber is doing for the City of Millbrae."

New proposals for the police, fire and park and recreation departments are expected to be ready July 8 when the council again meets to discuss the budget.

Millbrae Pursues Planning Flexibility

Millbrae planning commissioners are reviewing the city's building height limitations to achieve more flexibility in dealing with residential developments.

Planners last week reviewed the municipal code which currently limits residential units to 30 feet in height.

According to Bill Huston, assistant city administrator and planning director, "The review takes into account problems with homes built on slopes. The code section now directly affects homes built on flat areas."

Huston said that if the commission and the City Council approve the changes, the height limitations in residential areas will be liberalized.

In other matters, the planners:

- Approved a 10-unit apartment complex at 15 Mateo Ave.
- Approved a variance for a freestanding sign at 1 Rollins Road. Burroughs Corp. was the applicant.
- Continued discussion on a proposed subdivision (one lot into five) in Millbrae Highlands.

Robbers Spray Savings Office Employees With Mace

Two men robbed a Franklin Savings & Loan Association office in San Mateo recently, sprayed three employees with Mace and fled with less than $5,000.

FBI Agent Thomas Sullivan said the robbers entered the office at 1332 W. Hillsdale Blvd. at 2:50 p.m. when no customers were present. The duo produced handguns, removed cash from several tellers' cages and forced the office manager to open the vault.

Before leaving, the robbers ordered the three employees to lie face down on the floor and then, for unexplained reasons, sprayed Mace on them.

Both robbers were described as white males in their late 30s or early 40s.

Fire Damages Coast School

Juveniles are suspected of starting a fire Thursday night at a San Andreas School classroom, 340 Inverness St., Pacifica, firemen reported today.

The fire occurred at 9:53 p.m. According to firemen, the suspect or suspects broke a plastic window at the school with rocks and then set fire to the window. The blaze ruined the window frame and destroyed $200 worth of contents. Firemen estimate structural damage at $2,000.

Painting of 160 DC Residences Approved

About 160 Daly City residences will get new paint jobs through a $186,000 federal manpower grant, according to Julius Castelan, president of the non profit corporation which will manage the project.

Castelan told the council Monday that the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors has approved the project, scheduled to begin in mid-July.

He said the project will employ 15 persons between the ages of 45 and 60 who will work on the exteriors of the houses six hours a day.

The 15 employees will be low-income persons who have been out of work for at least 16 weeks. Because Daly City is scheduled to receive heavy Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds, unemployed workers will have to be recommended from outside the city.

Castelan said the residences painted must be owned by low-income families.
